Dear Mr Friedman,

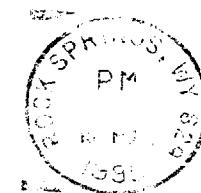

I am a mother and a naturalist by trade and am writing you this letter in hopes that I am not too late. I strongly am against all bioengineered or genetically altered crops. If I could have it my way I would forbid it to ever occur. However, I realize this is an extreme point of view. At the very least I ask, for myself and for the sake of my son, that all genetically engineered products be labeled. Let the consumer decide, not a company such as Monsanto whose only objective is their own greed and short sightedness. Your response on this matter is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely

Sonya Chonczyński
